Guide for practitioners in public procurement

The National Agency of Civil Servants (NACS) informs that the "Guide for practitioners in public procurement" was launched. The guide is a result of the international project "Fighting public procurement criminality", concluded by Freedom House Romania in March 2015 and can be found in digitized version at ghidachizitii.lfwd.io. Among the topics addressed there are: the stages of procurement, errors of assessment, fraud prevention through administrative means, conflicts of interest and incompatibilities etc.

The e-book format will allow the guide to keep up with legislative changes and legal practice and to be furthered developed under the project "Law, economy, competition and administration", project which continues the approach to fraud in procurement stressing the preventive area and a target group that includes magistrates and operative officers from Romania and Bulgaria, and civil servants from investment and procurement departments in county councils, city halls and other contracting authorities.

For further details on this project, implemented by NACS as partner of Freedom House Romania, please visit NACS website, section Projects / In implementation.
