Japanese Professor, Mikitaka Masuyama, visits NACS

The National Agency of Civil Servants informs that on 09.09.2014 received the visit of representatives from the National Institute for Policy Studies (GRIPS) from Tokyo and the Embassy of Japan in Romania, having on the agenda the presentation and promotion of the Young Leaders' Program (YLP).

The meeting was attended by NACS representatives: József BIRTALAN - president, Carmen DRAGAN - general secretary, Adriana CIRCIUMARU - director, Communication and International Relations Department, besides Nobumitsu Takamatsu - cultural attaché of the Embassy of Japan in Romania and Mikitaka Masuyama – professor GRIPS.

GRIPS representative presented the Young Leaders' Program, stressing that the project provides both academic training and practical activity, leading to a thorough training of those who benefit from this scholarship.

NACS president confirmed the institution's support in promoting the program and reaffirmed the Agency's openness towards such initiatives.

Additional information on scholarships offered through YLP are available on the websites: www.grips.ac.jp and www.anfp.gov.ro.
